TOKYO, Auril 29.-Shara Soroku who will sail for California on May 3, aboard the steamship Mongolia, will investigate the allen land law situation as the representative of the Seivukai, or constitutional party. He is a member of the house of peers, and in his mission to the United States he has the unofficial approval of the Emperor and his ministry, but he will not visit California in an official capacity.

"I have been chosen by the Seiyukai to go to California and extend to the Japanese there the sympathy of my party." Coroku sailed today. "While in the United States I will endeavor in a private capacity to solve the California and question from the standpoint of justice and caulty. I go as the reprejustice and equity. Assemblyman L. D. Bohnette, progressive leader of the lower house, took the same view.

"While Bryan may have more torcible revelations." he said, "which he expects to deliver at the last moment, nothing he has said seems to have altered the determination of the legislature to enact a law based on the slogan 'Ameri ca for Americans." Assemblyman J. W. Struckenbruck, Democrat, a former resident of Lincoln, Neb., and a close friend of Bryan, said; "I have the greatest admiration for Secretary Bryan, but I cannot follow him in this. I know-and I told Bryan so in executive session-that the Japanese government is, and has been, furnese government is, and has been, furnishing to Japanese in my district the actual cash to buy land. It is hard enough for white men to compete with the Japanese when they merely lower the standard of living, but when the Japanese is backed by the Tokyo government competition by whites is impossible. If the legislature falls to pass a bill absolutely excluding the Japanese as land owners, the initiative law is sure to be invoked.

Will Take Stump.

"I will put my farm in other hands and take the stump for exclusion at my own expense, if necessary. Callfornia has to be saved for the white people, and the time to start doing At an executive session of the legissture with Secretary Bryan the discussion was general. The Secretary of State sent a long telegram to President Wilson, summarizing the situation and asking for further instructions. It is learned today that Bryan did not It is learned today that Bryan did not advance any new solution of the problem confronting the legislature, but merely conveyed to the members the advice of the President. He urged the legislature to postpone immediate action on the land bill to allow the State bepartment to negotiate new treaty arrangements with Japan, accomplishing the desired ends. If this plan is not acceptable, he suggested that a law similar to that in force in Illinois be enacted. This permits allens to hold land only six years, applying to all allens alike.

State Department officials were puzzled ruary 25. oday as to how Ehara Soroku, a member of the Japanese house of lords, could fulful his reported mission were he sent to California by his government to con ter on the anti-Japanese land legislation. It was pointed out by an official Soroku, although he might be officially representing the Japanese government and coming with the permission of the United States Government, could only act, in California, in a "personal capacity." It appears that there are no precedents covering such an envoy. It appears that there are no precedents covering such an envoy. Acting Secretary of State John Bassett Moore said today that no communication relative to Soroku had been received by the State Department. The opinion was also expressed by State Department officials that Soroku's visit to California would be unnecessary, insamuch as President Wilson had ordered Secretary Bryan there upon a mission identical to that proposed for Boroku by the Japanese government.

The Kokuminto, or opposition party in parliament, also will send a representative to California within a few days, it was learned.

It was at first the hope of Soroku's party that they could get some sort of a semi-official commission for him that would admit him to the United States as an envoy, but the foreign office, looking up precedents for such a course, decided that it would be impossible for the government officially to recognize Soroku.

The legislator, who is a Christian plans to call on the governor and Legislature of Sacramento, and to visit the leading Japanese on the coast.
